

THIRTY-FOUR YEARS

by Allison Duggins

Thirty-four years of Beauty and the Beast. Fans celebrating via Winterfest Online, attending conventions in person, and now virtual. Thirty-four years of fan fiction, poems, art, videos and numerous websites, all celebrating the love of Vincent and Catherine.

And it all started on a Friday night, 25 September 1987. Some fans were hooked right away, others in reruns, and now new fans are discovering it years later online. They are drawn into the tunnel world and its values. They continue to influence our lives - and we are better for it.

Happy 34th anniversary to this enduring dream of love and hope!
