

ELYSIUM

by Katrina Relf

*Each time I look upon your face
That face I love above all else
I cannot comprehend how my world
Could look on you and be afraid*

*Could look on you with naught but love
The beauty of your soul shines through Your face, your eyes--and I am lost Forever in their wondrous depths*

*They take me somewhere I have never been
To a world of crystal, candles and night
To a world of darkness, a secret place
A place of dreams for us to share*

*Each moment with you is a lifetime
And only with you am I whole
Let me lay safe and warm
In the shelter of your arms*

*For only there do I find peace
And only there will be my heaven*
