

30 Years of Dreaming

by Allison

30 years ago a dream was born.

30 years ago a world was discovered.

The fandom has been divided, reborn, divided. There are “classic” fans. There are “Season 3” fans. We are all “FANS”, part of each other.

Some fans dropped out due to conflict, some stayed. New and old fans rediscovered due to the internet and social media.

We are told to “Follow Our Hearts” and “One moves towards love or away from it, there is no other direction”.

In the end, it comes down to “Even the greatest darkness is nothing, so long as we share the light”.