

Believe

by Allison

Samantha was just coming on call for her shift when she got the call. Shots. Fired in Tucson. Us Representative was shot in the head. 18 others injured.

“Okay, what would Father do?” Samantha wondered as she prepared for the incoming trauma.

“Just do your best,” she heard him whisper in her ear. “I know you can do it, Samantha.”

“What if I can’t? What if she dies?” Samantha heard herself say. “What if I’m not good enough?”

“Believe in yourself, like we do,” Vincent’s voice whispered then faded into the distance.

“Are you ready, Dr. Leeds?”

“Yes, lets go.”