

Success

by Angie

It finally felt like Spring above, and Catherine decided to send the tunnel community a special treat. She made a detour from the courthouse to choose a flavour in a specialty shop, then sent a note via Benny to advise William of a shipment, ensuring it would be delivered to the warehouse in time for lunch.

She also found the perfect little memento for Vincent and sent it down separately, in the afternoon.

By the time she arrived below after work, everyone she met had a smile.

Vincent greeted her with a kiss tasting faintly of peppermint.

Definitely a success!

