

Beauty and the Beast Tidbit (100 words)

by Angie

Justice Revealed

Catherine entered Vincent's chamber with a greeting on her lips, then stopped dead. Where was he? She sensed he was nearby.

She closed her eyes and concentrated. Yes, he was here. She whirled around, checking all the possibilities. There really weren't really any hiding places here, so he must be camouflaged.

Then she spotted a deeper shadow behind Lady Justice and giggled. She heard a snort and Vincent moved into the light.

"She was smirking at you," she told him.

"Never, Catherine," Vincent replied. "She is a demure judge."

"Ah, but I'm not."

"No," he agreed, as she proved it.